

Next Generation Computing @ BASF

Brian Chol Soo Standen¹

¹ BASF Corporation, 25 Middlesex Essex Turnpike, Iselin, NJ, 08830, brian.standen@basf.com,
<https://www.basf.com>

Key Words: Digitalisation, Quantum Computing, Chemical Industry.

ABSTRACT

Next generation computing technologies will change the way in which we approach science and business. Technologies such as quantum computing and neuromorphic computing are a quickly developing across suppliers, corporates and government. While most next generation technologies are still developing toward viable commercial applications, the promise of these technologies is enormous. Join me as I discuss the promising areas in which next generation computing can be applied.